Baltimore says yes to Irish Unity

Saint Patrick's Day may be over, but Irish eyes are still smiling in Baltimore, Maryland. The Baltimore City Council adopted a resolution supporting a united Ireland, on March 18th. The near unanimous resolution passed in the standing room only city council chamber, giving the Campaign for a United Ireland, yet another resolution to be added to the growing lists of cities, counties, state, organizations and union resolutions.

Baltimore joins Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Saint Louis and other cities calling for Irish unity.

Baltimore City Councilman Jim Kraft sponsored the resolution and it was seconded by William Welch, an African American who

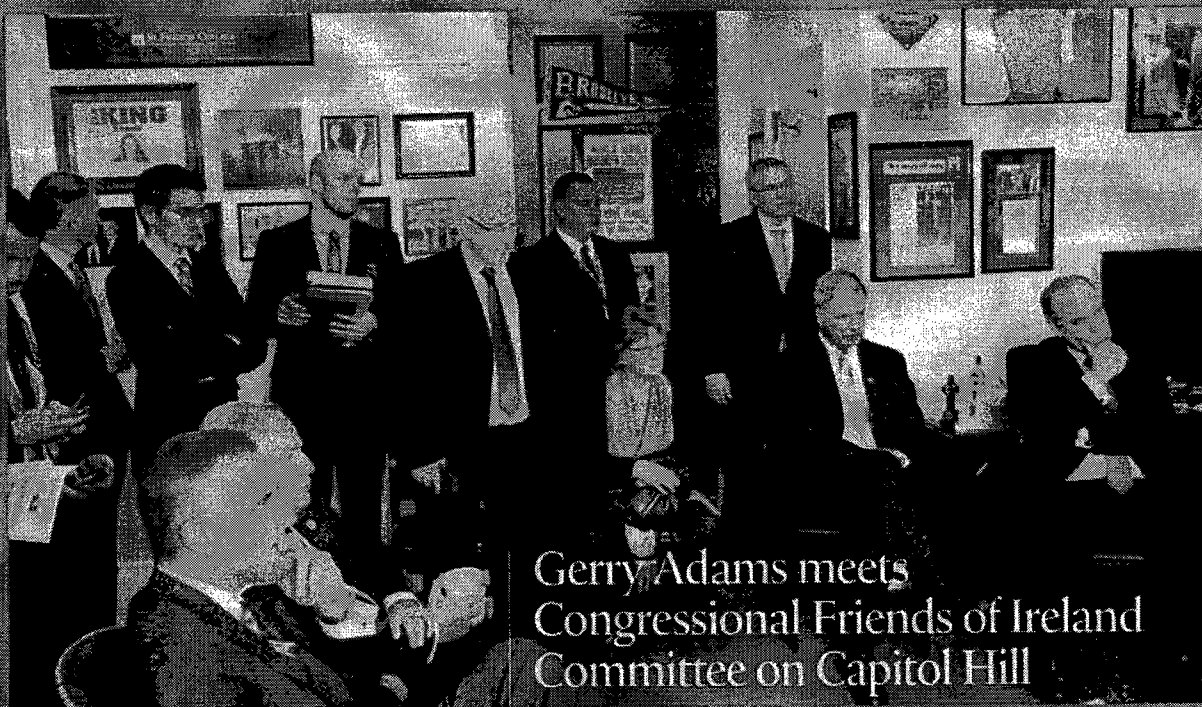

Ann Connolly of the LOAH Baltimore Div. 1, Councilman James Kraft sponsor of the Resolution and Michael Meleff of the IAUC represents a very historical old Irish immigrant neighborhood in his district. Comments on behalf of the resolution were made by Councilman Robert Curran and Councilwoman

Mary Pat Clarke who have supported Irish causes going back to the MacBride Principles. Councilwoman Clarke stated "it has been her hope and belief to see the border removed and Ireland made a whole sovereign independent nation one day again by peaceful means."

The resolution was brought to the attention of the Baltimore City Council by a coalition of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Irish American Unity Conference and the Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians. AOH Past National President Joe Roche commented "This victory is the result of the team effort between the AOH/LOAH and the IAUC. Men and women doing their share, not looking for anything other than peace with justice in the north of Ireland."

Gerry Adams meets Congressional Friends of Ireland Committee on Capitol Hill

The Congressional Friends of Ireland Committee hosted a meeting with Gerry Adams on Capitol Hill on March 19th. Concerns were raised by the Congressmen present about the recent violence in Belfast by loyalists and the threat of increased attacks by dissidents. The issue of immigration reform was raised by several members. Gerry Adams spoke on the outstanding issues in the Good Friday Agreement that have not been implemented, including the Bill of Rights for the North of Ireland.

Pennsylvania Seeks A United Ireland

The Pennsylvania Senate on March 18th unanimously adopted a resolution supporting a United Ireland. The resolution, authored by State Senator Mike Stack urges the United States, Great Britain, Ireland and Northern Ireland to support a united Ireland.

Hours before, the Baltimore City Council also passed a United Ireland Resolution, calling on both the Maryland State Legislature and the Maryland Congressional delegation to support all peaceful actions that support the final reunification of the island of Ireland by all electoral and diplomatic means necessary.

Senator Stack stated, "We serve as a positive example of a nation of people of all backgrounds living together peacefully. I believe it's important that the Senate of Pennsylvania strongly support a United Ireland by supporting peaceful political actions that will result in the final reunification of Ireland."

"The Irish-American community in Pennsylvania owes a debt of gratitude to Senator Mike Stack, who sponsored the Resolution and his terrific staff. Irish activists from the IAUC, AOH and LAOH in Western PA and across the Commonwealth worked hard and worked together to obtain co-sponsors for the unanimous approval of the Resolution by the full Senate on March 18th. Ned McGinley of the AOH was key in organizing the effort and I look forward to working with him as we now focus on the PA State House so that Pennsylvania joins other states and cities in supporting a united Ireland," remarked Irish American Unity Conference, Pittsburgh Chapter President, Sarah McAuliffe-Bellin.

Pennsylvania joins five other state legislatures which have approved similar resolutions: California, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Ned McGinley of the Ancient Order Of Hibernians commented "The United Ireland Resolution is the most important piece of Irish Legislation to be moved from the PA State Senate since the 1992 MacBride Principles. We can only hope that it will be as successful as MacBride was in bringing about equality in employment which was a paving stone on the road to the Peace Process. Our next paving stone is the 'One Road' to a United Ireland. Thank you to the IAUC and the AOH as well as so many other groups and individuals. On to the PA House. No rest for the Committed".

'Thank you for all of your support and solidarity'

A chairde,

I want to thank our friends in the USA for their continued support for Sinn Féin and for the Irish peace process.

April marked the 15th anniversary of the Good Friday Agreement. That was a pivotal moment in recent Irish history. Sinn Féin is proud of the role we played with others in forging that Agreement.

There would have been no peace process and no Agreement without the commitment and support of Irish America.

Since then significant progress has occurred. Most importantly the Agreement provides for a border poll on Irish unity. And Sinn Féin is now urging the Irish and British governments to set a date in the lifetime of the next Assembly election for a referendum to be held.

We are looking to our friends and allies in the USA and elsewhere around the world to join with us in demanding a border poll.

Ireland is a great country. But partition creates division and inequality. It encourages sectarianism and segregation. The existence of two states is uneconomic and prevents the people of Ireland from achieving our full potential as a nation.

Imagine an end to these divisions and a new agreed Ireland.

I believe that we can create a fair society. With your help and support we can make this happen.

THANK YOU FOR ALL OF YOUR SUPPORT AND SOLIDARITY.

Is mise

Looking ahead to Lockout anniversary

An event recently hosted by the Transit Workers Union Local 100 (TWU) and supported by Liuna, the Teamsters and Building Workers Union, in Manhattan commemorated the 100th anniversary of the historic Dublin lockout of 1913, and marked the centennial of the landmark moment in the struggle of Irish workers to unionize. The event was co-hosted by Friends of Sinn Féin.

Introduced by TWU Local 100 president John

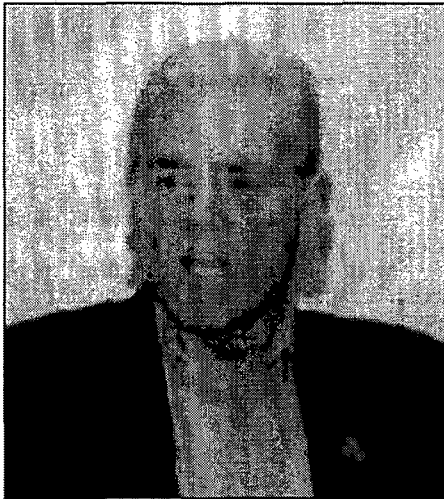

Samuelson, members of TWU Local 100, LiUNA, the Teamsters and IBEW celebrated the memory of the 1913 lockout with readings from leaders of the time James Connolly and James Larkin and from the memoirs of Elizabeth Gurly Flynn.

Keynote speaker Terry O'Sullivan, Liuna General President, addressed the audience paying tribute to the spirit and courage of the leaders of the lockout and their efforts to battle insufficient wages and conditions that employers forced on their workers. O'Sullivan highlighted how far unionization had come in the past 100 years and how modern unionization can be traced back to the leaders of that 1913 Dublin Lockout.

The special guest speaker was Mary Lou

McDonald, Vice President of Sinn Féin and Member of the Dáil for the Central Dublin constituency where so much of the lockout was played out. McDonald gave insight into the depth of poverty that working class Dublin was subjected to in her constituency 100 years ago. She also thanked the Irish American community for supporting Sinn Féin's goal of a united Ireland and asked for continued backing going forward, "it has always been the struggle for Irish freedom and the struggle for equality, they are one and the same thing, inseparable."

The event was also attended by transport workers from Britain, and addressed by Bob Crowe, who spoke of the common cause of workers' rights around the world.
